“Many people might know New Meadows only as the little town at the junction of Idaho 55 and U.S. 95. But the town and the people who live, work and play here are a big part of what makes Idaho’s Heartland so beautiful and important to our resource- and tourist-based economies. New Meadows is a town at a number of intersections, and that gives residents a unique and important perspective on life in rural Idaho. I look forward to hearing their views on our State government, and how we can help make it better.”
