WHEREAS, rapid community spread has caused some local hospitals to have to significantly reduce operations to protect its health care workers and caused patients to have to travel or be transported into other counties to be treated for COVID-19 or other illnesses and injuries. Idaho's rural communities are particularly at risk because of limited health care capacity and staff; and

WHEREAS, the Omicron variant of COVID-19 is currently the predominant strain in the United State and Idaho. This variant is more infections and transmissible when compared to previous variants. Due to the increase in COVID-19 patients, some hospitals are diverting patients to other hospitals within the state and, in some instances, to neighboring states. Hospitals in surrounding states are also experiencing a surge of COVID-19 cases and may not be able to receive Idaho patients; and

WHEREAS, the recent surge of COVID-19 cases in Idaho has put a significant strain on health care workers, resulting in staffing shortages across the State. Without health care workers and support staff, hospitals are not able to utilize their full capacity; and

WHEREAS, the Idaho Military Division is committed to maintaining domestic emergency response readiness in the Idaho National Guard; and guiding the state, through the Office of Emergency Management, in effectively preparing for, responding to, and recovering from all hazards; and

WHEREAS, Idaho is committed to being prepared and protecting Idahoans from COVID-19. There continues to be a risk to life and the continued operation of public infrastructure as a result of cases of COVID-19 throughout the State of Idaho, and the activation of the Idaho National Guard will assist in our state's battle against this deadly virus.
