

Biography of First Lady Teresa Little

First Lady Teresa Little is a native Idahoan, born and raised in Weiser, Idaho.

A Delta Gamma, Teresa graduated from the University of Idaho with a Bachelor's degree in Home Economics Education and minors in Science and Physical Education.

Following graduation, she taught high school in Hermiston, Oregon, before returning to her home state.

The First Lady's involvement with the broader community includes membership on the board of directors for Idaho Public Television; board member of the Children's Home Society of Idaho; president of the Congressional Award Council of Idaho; member of P.E.O. (Philanthropic Educational Organization); organizer and past president of Friends of the Emmett Public Library, and a dedicated member of the Legisladies and Gentlemen.

Teresa enjoys spending time with her two sons, daughters-in-law, and six grandchildren. She is grateful for the relationships and friendships she has fostered with many Idahoans during her lifetime, and believes it is an honor to be Idaho's First Lady.
